2.CUVAS Successfully Convenes 8th Selection Board to Strengthen Academic Excellence and Merit-Based Recruitment August 15, 2026:

Cholistan University of Veterinary & Animal Sciences (CUVAS), Bahawalpur, successfully convened its 8th Selection Board Meeting on August 15, 2026, as part of its continued efforts to strengthen its academic workforce and uphold the highest standards of merit, transparency and professionalism. The meeting was held under the chairmanship of Prof. Dr. Muhammad Tariq Javed, Vice Chancellor, CUVAS, who emphasized the university's commitment to selecting highly qualified and competent professionals to further enhance the quality of teaching, research and academic services at the institution.

During the Selection Board proceedings, interviews were conducted for three academic positions in the fields of Veterinary Microbiology, Veterinary Medicine and Theriogenology. The interview process was carried out in a professional, transparent and merit-based manner, providing candidates with an equal opportunity to demonstrate their academic qualifications, professional expertise and suitability for the respective positions. The Selection Board comprised a distinguished panel of eminent academicians, senior professionals and representatives of the public sector. The members included Prof. Dr. Shazia Anjum, Vice Chancellor, Government Sadiq College Women University, Bahawalpur; Prof. Dr. Furkhanda Manzoor, former Vice Chancellor, Lahore College for Women University, Lahore; Mr. Najam Waheed, Member, Punjab Public Service Commission, Lahore; Dr. Rana Muhammad Tariq Khan, Director, Shamim Group of Industries, Bahawalpur; and Mr. Salman Mirza, Registrar, CUVAS, Bahawalpur, who served as Secretary of the Selection Board.

To facilitate participation and ensure a smooth and efficient selection process, Mr. Najam Waheed and Dr. Rana Muhammad Tariq Khan participated in the proceedings online, while the remaining members attended the meeting physically at the CUVAS campus. The presence of eminent academic and professional experts on the Selection Board reflects CUVAS's commitment to maintaining institutional integrity, merit-based recruitment and robust quality assurance mechanisms. The university continues to prioritize the appointment of competent faculty members capable of contributing meaningfully to teaching, research, innovation and the professional development of students.

3. CUVAS Celebrates 79th Independence Day with National Spirit, Unity and Patriotism August 14, 2026:

Cholistan University of Veterinary & Animal Sciences (CUVAS), Bahawalpur, celebrated Pakistan's 79th Independence Day with great enthusiasm, patriotic spirit and a renewed commitment to national unity and progress. The university premises were beautifully illuminated and decorated with national flags and green-and-white colours, creating a vibrant and festive atmosphere that reflected the joy and spirit of Independence Day.

The celebrations were led by Prof. Dr. Muhammad Tariq Javed, Vice Chancellor, CUVAS, and were attended by faculty members, administrative staff and their families. The ceremony featured flag hoisting and Independence Day cake cutting, bringing the CUVAS community together in a spirit of unity and patriotism. Addressing the participants, the Vice Chancellor congratulated the university community on the auspicious occasion and highlighted the importance of freedom, unity, discipline, education and collective responsibility in building a prosperous and progressive Pakistan. He paid tribute to the sacrifices of the nation's founding leaders and acknowledged the services and sacrifices of the Pakistan Armed Forces for the defence and security of the country.

Prof. Dr. Muhammad Tariq Javed emphasized that universities have a vital responsibility in shaping Pakistan's future by producing educated, skilled, ethical and responsible citizens who can contribute meaningfully to national development.

The celebrations provided an opportunity for the CUVAS community to come together, share the joy of independence and reaffirm their commitment to serving the nation with dedication and responsibility. The ceremony concluded with prayers for the peace, prosperity, stability and progress of Pakistan, as well as for the continued success and development of CUVAS.

Celebrating the spirit of freedom, unity and Pakistan!

4. CUVAS Conducts Transparent Auction of 77 Livestock Animals August 11, 2026:

Cholistan University of Veterinary & Animal Sciences (CUVAS), Bahawalpur, successfully conducted a transparent and competitive auction of 77 small and large ruminants, generating approximately Rs. 4 million through an open and fair bidding process. The auction was conducted in line with the vision and guidance of Prof. Dr. M. Tariq Javed, Vice Chancellor, CUVAS, to ensure the responsible and efficient utilization of university resources. The Vice Chancellor emphasized that livestock animals no longer required for university operations, particularly those whose continued maintenance and feeding were placing an unnecessary financial burden on institutional resources, should be disposed of through a fair, transparent and competitive process.

A total of 12 bidders participated in the auction, ensuring healthy competition and transparency throughout the proceedings. The livestock were sold through an open bidding process, with the total value of the animals auctioned amounting to approximately Rs. 4 million. The auction was conducted under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Riaz, Dean, Faculty of Veterinary Sciences, while the Auction Committee ensured that all proceedings were carried out in accordance with principles of fairness, transparency and accountability.

The university administration appreciated the dedicated efforts of Dr. Waqas Ashraf, Director; Dr. M. Nauman Raja, Farm Manager (DAT&RC); Dr. Fazal Wadood; members of the Auction Committee; and all officers and officials whose coordinated efforts contributed to the successful completion of the auction. The initiative reflects CUVAS's continued commitment to financial discipline, institutional accountability, transparency and responsible resource management. By disposing of surplus livestock through an open and competitive process, the university has taken a practical step towards reducing unnecessary maintenance expenditure while ensuring that institutional assets are managed efficiently and responsibly. CUVAS remains committed to strengthening transparent governance and ensuring the judicious utilization of public and institutional resources in the best interest of the university and its stakeholders.

5. CUVAS Vice Chancellor Visits Historic Fakhar-ul-Dahar Manzil Library, Explores Heritage and Avenues for Collaboration

The Worthy Vice Chancellor of Cholistan University of Veterinary & Animal Sciences (CUVAS), Prof. Dr. Muhammad Tariq Javed, paid a memorable visit to the historic Fakhar-ul-Dahar Manzil Library, an exceptional repository of intellectual, religious and cultural heritage, where history, knowledge and entrepreneurship came together in a meaningful exchange. The library houses a rare and invaluable collection of handwritten manuscripts of the Holy Qur'an, including manuscripts believed to be approximately 400 years old. These precious manuscripts represent centuries of scholarship, devotion, calligraphy and the preservation of knowledge, offering a remarkable glimpse into the rich intellectual heritage of the region.

The Vice Chancellor was graciously hosted by Syed Muhammad Fakhar-ul-Dahar, a distinguished entrepreneur and successful businessman with diverse experience in the poultry industry, rice export, and hotel and hospitality sectors. He continues the proud legacy of his forefathers in preserving the historic heritage and intellectual treasures associated with Fakhar-ul-Dahar Manzil. During the visit, the Vice Chancellor appreciated the preservation of these rare manuscripts and the efforts being made to safeguard the historical and intellectual legacy associated with the library. The visit provided an opportunity to explore the significance of heritage preservation and the role of educational institutions in promoting knowledge, culture and intellectual engagement.

The meeting also focused on potential avenues for university-industry collaboration, expertise sharing, knowledge exchange, entrepreneurship, agribusiness and future cooperation. Discussions highlighted opportunities to connect CUVAS's academic and research expertise with practical industry experience, particularly in areas related to veterinary sciences, poultry, livestock, agribusiness, food and hospitality, entrepreneurship and community development. The visit was accompanied by Dr. Tanveer Akhtar, Dr. Saleh Nawaz Khan, Mr. M. Kamal and Dr. Naeem Shahid, who participated in the discussions and exchange of ideas. Speaking on the occasion, the Vice Chancellor emphasized the importance of building meaningful relationships between academia, industry and the wider community. Such linkages, he noted, can create opportunities for knowledge transfer, innovation, entrepreneurship, practical training and collaborative initiatives that contribute to both institutional and societal development. The visit reflects CUVAS's continued commitment to academic excellence, industry-academia linkages, knowledge sharing, entrepreneurship and heritage preservation. It also highlights the university's efforts to engage with leading members of the business community and explore partnerships that can translate academic knowledge into practical impact. The memorable encounter brought together history, heritage, academia and entrepreneurship, creating a valuable platform for mutual learning and opening new possibilities for future collaboration between CUVAS and the wider community.

6. CUVAS Successfully Conducts 2nd DVM Entry Test for Fall 2026 Admissions

August 5, 2026:

Cholistan University of Veterinary & Animal Sciences (CUVAS), Bahawalpur, successfully conducted the 2nd Entry Test for admission to the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (DVM) program for fall 2026 on August 5, 2026, at the university campus. The entry test was conducted in a peaceful, well-organized and transparent environment, with comprehensive arrangements made by the university administration to ensure a smooth and fair examination process for all candidates. A large number of aspiring students from different districts of Punjab and other parts of the country appeared in the entry test, reflecting the growing interest of students in veterinary and animal sciences and the increasing academic reputation of CUVAS as a leading institution in the field.

The university administration made extensive arrangements for the convenience and facilitation of candidates and their parents, including candidate guidance, seating arrangements, security, examination management and transportation facilities. Dedicated teams remained engaged throughout the process to ensure that the test was conducted efficiently and without inconvenience to the participants. Prof. Dr. M. Tariq Javed, Vice Chancellor, CUVAS, appreciated the efforts of the Admission Committee, faculty members, examination staff, security personnel and all supporting teams for their dedication and professionalism in ensuring the successful conduct of the entry test. The Vice Chancellor welcomed the aspiring students and encouraged them to pursue careers in veterinary and animal sciences, emphasizing the vital role of professionally trained veterinarians and animal science experts in strengthening Pakistan's livestock, dairy, poultry and animal health sectors.

Prof. Dr. M. Tariq Javed further reiterated that CUVAS is committed to merit-based admissions, transparency, fairness and academic excellence, ensuring that talented and deserving students are provided opportunities to receive quality professional education in a modern, research-oriented academic environment.

The university administration expressed its appreciation to all candidates and their parents for their cooperation, discipline and confidence in CUVAS throughout the admission process. The results and subsequent merit lists will be announced in accordance with the official admission schedule through the university's official website. The successful conduct of the 2nd DVM Entry Test marks another important step in CUVAS's efforts to attract talented young people and prepare the next generation of professionals who can contribute to the development of Pakistan's veterinary, livestock and animal health sectors.
